

COPULATIVELY

Meaning: Copulatively refers to the manner in which elements are joined or linked together, often in a way that indicates addition or connection, particularly in grammatical or analytical contexts.

1. The two clauses were joined copulatively, creating a more complex sentence structure.
2. In the analysis of the poem, she noted how the images were connected copulatively.
3. Their relationship developed copulatively, with each experience deepening their bond.
4. The software allows users to combine data sets copulatively for a more comprehensive view.
5. In linguistics, copulatively linked phrases often convey a sense of equality between the subjects.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/copulatively>