

CRANIOLOGIST

Meaning: A craniologist is a specialist who studies the shape and features of skulls, particularly in relation to human evolution and anthropology.

1. A craniologist studied the unique features of ancient human skulls to better understand evolutionary changes.
2. The craniologist presented her findings at the conference, highlighting the significance of cranial measurements in anthropology.
3. After years of research, the craniologist published a comprehensive guide on the variations in skull shapes across different cultures.
4. In her role as a craniologist, she often collaborated with archaeologists to analyze skeletal remains found at excavation sites.
5. The craniologist's expertise was sought after in a legal case involving the identification of remains from a historical context.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/craniologist>