

DANK

Meaning: Dank: having a damp, musty, and often unpleasant smell or quality.

1. The abandoned cellar had a dank smell that made it hard to breathe.
2. After the rain, the forest floor felt damp and dank underfoot.
3. He described the beer as having a rich, dank flavor that hinted at earthy hops.
4. The basement was so dank that mold began to grow on the walls.
5. She loved the dank atmosphere of the old library, filled with the scent of aging books.
6. The basement had a dank smell that made it uncomfortable to stay for long.
7. He described the pizza as being truly dank, loaded with gooey cheese and fresh toppings.
8. After the rain, the air felt cool and dank, typical for this time of year.
9. The artist's new album was praised for its dank beats and clever lyrics.
10. In the forest, the ground was damp and dank, covered with moss and fallen leaves.
11. The basement was dank and musty, filled with the smell of mildew.
12. After the rain, the forest floor was covered in dank moss that glistened in the light.
13. He enjoyed the dank atmosphere of the old tavern, where the air was thick with stories.
14. The dank air in the cave made it hard to breathe, but the adventure was worth it.
15. They found a dank cellar that seemed perfect for storing their homemade wine.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/dank>