

DECEPTIVENESS

Meaning: Deceptiveness refers to the quality of being misleading or not truthful, often involving the concealment of one's true intentions or nature.

1. The artist's work often highlights the deceptiveness of appearances in modern society.
2. Her deceptiveness was finally revealed when the truth came to light after years of manipulation.
3. The deceptiveness of the advertisement led many consumers to feel misled about the product's true effectiveness.
4. In negotiations, a touch of deceptiveness can sometimes give one party a strategic advantage.
5. He admired her ability to weave a narrative filled with the deceptiveness of half-truths and clever lies.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/deceptiveness>