

DECERPTIBLE

Meaning: Decerptible: capable of being perceived or distinguished, often used to describe subtle or slight differences.

1. The subtle changes in her expression were almost imperceptible to the casual observer.
2. In the dim light of the room, the differences in the painting's colors were barely discernible.
3. Despite the heavy fog, the outline of the distant mountains was still perceptible.
4. The scientist noted that the temperature variations were only perceptible with precise instruments.
5. His quiet enthusiasm was perceptible in the way he spoke about his latest project.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/decerptible>