DELACERATION

Meaning: Delaceration is the process of carefully removing layers or sections of material or tissue to reveal underlying elements or prevent further damage.

1. The delaceration of the old manuscript revealed faded texts that had long been forgotten.
2. The doctor explained that delaceration involves careful removal of tissue to prevent further injury.
3. During the investigation, the forensic team examined the delaceration patterns on the fabric for clues.
4. Her emotional delaceration was evident as she recounted the painful memories from her past.
5. The artist's work depicted the delaceration of societal norms in a striking and thought-provoking manner.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/delaceration