DELACRYMATION

Meaning: Delacrymation is the process of eliminating tears or achieving a tearless state, particularly observed in certain species like amphibians adapted to dry environments.

1. Delacrymation refers to the process of eliminating tears or the production of tearless states in certain contexts.

2. The researchers studied delacrymation in amphibians to understand their unique adaptations to arid environments.

3. In a fascinating experiment, the scientists observed that delacrymation could enhance the survival of certain species in drought conditions.

4. Delacrymation has significant implications in both medical fields and the study of evolutionary biology.

5. Understanding the mechanisms behind delacrymation could lead to breakthroughs in treating conditions that cause excessive tearing.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/delacrymation