

DELIQUATION

Meaning: Deliquation is the process of a substance absorbing moisture from the air and dissolving in the resulting liquid.

1. The deliquation of the salt resulted in a more concentrated brine solution.
2. During the experiment, the deliquation process was carefully monitored to ensure consistency.
3. Scientists observed that deliquation could significantly alter the physical properties of the material.
4. The ancient texts described deliquation as a crucial step in the purification of metals.
5. After the deliquation, the mixture was analyzed for its chemical composition and reactivity.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/deliquation>