

DENOMINATIONAL

Meaning: Denominational refers to relating to a particular religious denomination or group within a larger faith, often highlighting differences in beliefs or practices.

1. The denominational differences among the various Christian groups can lead to rich theological discussions.
2. She chose to attend a denominational school that aligned with her family's beliefs.
3. The conference aimed to bridge denominational divides and foster greater unity among churches.
4. His denominational affiliation influenced his perspective on social justice issues.
5. Many communities celebrate denominational diversity as a strength rather than a division.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/denominational>