

DENOMINATIONALISM

Meaning: Denominationalism is the tendency for religious groups to form distinct denominations, often resulting in the fragmentation of faith communities and discussions about unity and diversity within religion.

1. Denominationalism often leads to a fragmentation of faith communities.
2. The rise of denominationalism has sparked debates about religious unity and diversity.
3. Many argue that denominationalism creates unnecessary barriers between believers.
4. In his sermon, the pastor emphasized the need to move beyond denominationalism.
5. Denominationalism can sometimes overshadow the core teachings of Christianity.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/denominationalism>