

DEOPERCULATE

Meaning: Deoperculate: to remove the operculum or covering from a specimen, particularly in marine biology, to facilitate examination of its internal structures.

1. The scientist explained how to deoperculate the specimen for further examination.
2. In the research lab, they needed to deoperculate certain marine organisms to study their internal structures.
3. To ensure accurate results, the team had to carefully deoperculate the samples without damaging them.
4. The process to deoperculate involves removing the operculum to access the fish's gills.
5. As part of the experiment, they learned how to deoperculate various species for their anatomical studies.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/deoperculate>