

DETERRATION

Meaning: Deterration is the process by which repeated exposure to a stimulus reduces its effectiveness or impact over time.

1. The concept of deterration suggests that repeated exposure to a stimulus can diminish its impact over time.
2. In psychological studies, deterration is often examined to understand how habituation affects behavior.
3. The artist's work exemplifies the idea of deterration, as the initial shock of her pieces fades with familiarity.
4. Researchers are investigating the effects of deterration on consumer behavior in marketing strategies.
5. Understanding deterration is crucial for developing effective interventions in addiction recovery programs.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/deterration>