

DETRACTING

Meaning: Detracting refers to the act of taking away from the worth or value of something, often by criticism or distraction.

1. Critics argued that the constant media attention was detracting from the athletes' performances.
2. His negative comments were detracting from the team's morale during the championship.
3. The unnecessary details in the report were detracting from its main message.
4. She felt that his jokes were detracting from the seriousness of the discussion.
5. Environmental concerns were detracting from the project's overall appeal to investors.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/detracting>