

DIMORPHIC

Meaning: Dimorphic refers to the occurrence of two distinct forms or variations in the characteristics of a species, particularly in relation to physical traits that differentiate between sexes.

1. Dimorphic characteristics in species can significantly influence their mating behaviors and reproductive success.
2. The dimorphic features of the butterflies allowed researchers to distinguish between the male and female populations easily.
3. In certain plants, dimorphic leaves serve different functions, aiding in both photosynthesis and reproduction.
4. Scientists are fascinated by dimorphic traits in animals, as they often reveal insights into evolutionary adaptations.
5. The study of dimorphic fungi has expanded our understanding of biodiversity and ecological interactions.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/dimorphic>