

DIMORPHISM

Meaning: Dimorphism is the occurrence of two distinct forms or appearances within the same species, often relating to differences between sexes, such as size or coloration.

1. Sexual dimorphism is evident in many bird species, where males often display brighter plumage than females.
2. The study of dimorphism in insects reveals fascinating adaptations to their environments.
3. In humans, dimorphism is commonly observed in body size and shape between genders.
4. Certain plants exhibit dimorphism in their flowers, with distinct male and female structures.
5. Researchers are investigating the evolutionary advantages of dimorphism in various animal populations.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/dimorphism>