

DIMPLEMENT

Meaning: Dimplement (verb): to remove or discard a previously established plan, design, or practice in favor of a new or improved alternative.

1. The architect decided to dimplement the original design in favor of a more sustainable approach.
2. In order to improve efficiency, the team planned to dimplement outdated practices that hindered productivity.
3. After careful consideration, the committee chose to dimplement the proposed changes to the policy.
4. To adapt to the new regulations, the company had to dimplement several of its existing procedures.
5. The software update aimed to dimplement features that were no longer relevant to users' needs.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/dimplement>