

DIREMPTION

Meaning: Diremption refers to the act of separation or division, particularly in philosophical discussions about reality and perception, as well as in legal contexts concerning the division of properties or rights.

1. The concept of diremption often surfaces in philosophical discussions about the nature of reality and perception.
2. In legal contexts, diremption can refer to the separation of properties or rights that were once unified.
3. The diremption of the two factions within the organization led to confusion and a lack of clear leadership.
4. Understanding diremption is crucial for grasping the complexities of human relationships and societal structures.
5. The artist's work embodies the theme of diremption, illustrating the conflict between individual identity and collective experience.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/diremption>