

DIREPTITIOUS

Meaning: Direptitious: characterized by a deliberate concealment of information or a tendency to be secretive and discreet in communication.

1. The direptitious nature of the information made it difficult for the team to trust their sources.
2. He took a direptitious approach to his negotiations, revealing only what was absolutely necessary.
3. In the direptitious world of corporate espionage, secrets are worth their weight in gold.
4. Her direptitious tactics often left her colleagues questioning her true motives.
5. They discovered a direptitious plot that could endanger the entire community if not addressed promptly.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/direptitious>