

DISASSIMILATIVE

Meaning: Disassimilative refers to processes or reactions that involve the breakdown or loss of certain features or substances, often resulting in a transformation or conversion, particularly in the contexts of language or biological metabolism.

1. The disassimilative processes in the language led to a gradual loss of certain phonetic features.
2. In biology, disassimilative reactions can play a crucial role in energy metabolism.
3. The disassimilative nature of her comments made it clear that she was distancing herself from the group.
4. Understanding disassimilative mechanisms is essential for studying genetic diversity in populations.
5. His disassimilative approach to cultural integration often sparked lively debates among his peers.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/disassimilative>