

DISCOLORATE

Meaning: DISCOLORATE (verb): to lose or cause to lose color, resulting in a faded or altered appearance.

1. The old photograph had begun to discolorate, its once-vibrant colors fading into muted tones.
2. As the sun beat down relentlessly, the paint on the wooden fence started to discolorate, revealing the bare wood beneath.
3. She noticed that the fabric of her new dress began to discolorate after just one wash, disappointing her greatly.
4. The artist decided to use special varnish to prevent her work from discolorating over time due to exposure to light.
5. After years of neglect, the once-bright mural on the wall had discolored, losing its charm and allure.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/discolorate>