

DISCURSIVE

Meaning: DISCURSIVE: characterized by a broad and meandering style of communication or writing that covers multiple topics or perspectives before reaching a conclusion.

1. The professor's lecture was discursive, weaving through various topics before arriving at the main argument.
2. In her discursive essay, she explored the implications of climate change from multiple perspectives.
3. The novel's discursive style made it feel like a conversation rather than a traditional narrative.
4. His discursive approach to philosophy allowed for a deeper understanding of complex ideas.
5. During the meeting, her discursive comments prompted a lively debate among the participants.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/discursive>