

DISEMPOWER

Meaning: Disempower: to deprive someone or a group of power, authority, or influence.

1. The sudden policy changes seemed designed to disempower local leaders and centralize authority.
2. Many activists argue that the lack of representation in government can disempower entire communities.
3. She felt that the constant criticism from her peers was intended to disempower her confidence.
4. The organization's failure to include diverse voices can inadvertently disempower marginalized groups.
5. Efforts to disempower the opposition only fueled their determination to fight back.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/disempower>