DISENCHANT

Meaning: To disenchant means to free someone from illusion or false belief, leading to disappointment or disillusionment.

1. The harsh reality of adulthood can often disenchant young dreamers.
2. She felt disenchant after realizing that her idol was not as perfect as she had imagined.
3. The film's predictability seemed to disenchant the audience by the halfway mark.
4. His once vibrant enthusiasm for the project began to disenchant as obstacles piled up.
5. The constant criticism from peers can disenchant even the most passionate artist.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/disenchant