

DISENCHARM

Meaning: Disenchant: to free from illusion or false belief; to rid of enchantment or charm.

1. The magician's performance failed to disenchant the audience, leaving them more captivated than ever.
2. After years of working in the industry, he began to disenchant from the glamour of Hollywood.
3. Her constant criticism started to disenchant him from the once cherished hobby of painting.
4. The documentary aimed to disenchant viewers from the myth of the perfect life showcased on social media.
5. As time went on, the realities of city living began to disenchant her idyllic vision of urban life.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/disencharm>