

DISFURNITURE

Meaning: Disfurniture (verb): to remove or rearrange furniture within a space.

1. The term 'disfurniture' refers to the process of removing or rearranging furniture within a space.
2. In the midst of a major renovation, they decided to disfurniture each room to create a more open layout.
3. After the moving company left, it took them hours to disfurniture the entire house to fit their new design vision.
4. She felt a sense of relief as she began to disfurniture her cluttered living room, making way for a minimalist aesthetic.
5. The artist chose to disfurniture the gallery to emphasize the artwork rather than the surrounding decor.
6. The old house was left in a state of disfurniture after the family moved out.
7. After years of neglect, the once vibrant living room was reduced to disfurniture and dust.
8. The concept of disfurniture highlights how emotional attachments to belongings can affect our sense of home.
9. She felt a strange sense of freedom amidst the disfurniture that now filled her empty apartment.
10. The artist used disfurniture as a metaphor for the loss of comfort and stability in modern life.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/disfurniture>