

DISINURE

Meaning: Disinure: to become accustomed to or desensitized by repeated exposure to something unpleasant or distressing.

1. The constant exposure to hardship can disinure a person to the suffering of others.
2. After years of witnessing violence, he became disinured to the chaos around him.
3. Her job in the emergency room disinured her to the sight of pain and injury.
4. Traveling extensively can disinure individuals to cultural differences that once seemed jarring.
5. As the team faced repeated failures, they began to disinure themselves to disappointment.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/disinure>