

DISSECTION

Meaning: Dissection refers to the careful analysis or examination of something, often involving a detailed breakdown to understand its components, as well as the act of cutting apart an organism for study.

1. The dissection of the frog in biology class was both fascinating and educational.
2. Her meticulous dissection of the novel revealed hidden themes and symbolism.
3. During the dissection, the students observed the intricate structures of the heart.
4. The scientific community praised the dissection of the data, which led to new discoveries.
5. His dissection of the argument highlighted several logical fallacies that others had overlooked.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/dissection>