

DISSERTATIONAL

Meaning: DISSERTATIONAL: relating to or characteristic of a dissertation, particularly in terms of research quality or scholarly presentation.

1. The student's dissertation was so well-researched that it became a seminal work in the field, showcasing her dissertational prowess.
2. His dissertational efforts were recognized with an award for the best research in his department.
3. She approached her dissertational writing with a level of dedication that impressed her advisors.
4. The university provided extensive resources to support students in their dissertational journeys.
5. In the final meeting, the committee praised his dissertational argument for its clarity and depth of analysis.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/dissertational>