

DISSIMILATION

Meaning: Dissimilation is a linguistic phenomenon in which similar sounds in a word become less alike over time.

1. Dissimilation occurs when the sounds in a word become less similar to one another over time.
2. In linguistics, dissimilation is often observed in the evolution of certain phonetic patterns within languages.
3. The phenomenon of dissimilation can significantly alter the pronunciation of words in various dialects.
4. Understanding dissimilation helps linguists trace the historical changes in language sounds and structures.
5. Some examples of dissimilation can be found in the way certain English words have transformed through usage.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/dissimilation>