

DUDDER

Meaning: DUDDER (noun): An object or machine that is in poor condition, unreliable, or no longer functional.

1. The old car sat in the driveway like a dudder, rusted and forgotten.
2. After years of service, the once-reliable machine had turned into a mere dudder.
3. He described his latest invention as a dudder, failing to function as intended.
4. No one wanted to buy the dudder of a bicycle that had flat tires and a broken chain.
5. Despite its dudder appearance, the vintage record player still produced beautiful music.
6. The old toy was nothing but a dudder, barely making a sound when I pulled the string.
7. After years of neglect, the once-vibrant garden had become a dudder, overrun with weeds and decay.
8. His excuses for being late were a dudder, failing to convince anyone in the meeting.
9. During the game, his performance was a dudder, leaving the team in a tough spot.
10. The movie turned out to be a dudder, with a predictable plot and uninspired acting.
11. The old car was nothing but a dudder, barely making it up the hill.
12. After years of neglect, the once-vibrant garden had turned into a dudder of dead plants and weeds.
13. He tried to sell the dudder of a bike, but no one was interested in such a rusty relic.
14. Despite its reputation as a dudder, the film has garnered a cult following over the years.
15. She felt like a dudder in the group, struggling to keep up with the lively conversation.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/dudder>