

DWINDLEMENT

Meaning: Dwindlement refers to the gradual reduction or decline in quantity, quality, or availability of something.

1. The dwindlement of the forest's resources has become a pressing concern for environmentalists.
2. As the population grows, the dwindlement of affordable housing options poses a significant challenge.
3. The team's morale experienced a dwindlement after several consecutive losses in the tournament.
4. Economists noted a dwindlement in consumer spending during the economic downturn.
5. The artist's once vibrant palette has seen a dwindlement, reflecting their current emotional state.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/dwindlement>