

ENDOGENOUSLY

Meaning: Endogenously means occurring or originating from within an organism or system, rather than from external sources.

1. The researchers hypothesized that the changes in hormone levels occurred endogenously within the body.
2. Endogenously produced compounds often play crucial roles in regulating physiological processes.
3. The study aimed to understand how emotions can influence behavior endogenously rather than through external factors.
4. In plants, certain nutrients are synthesized endogenously, allowing them to thrive in various environments.
5. The team discovered that the disease progressed endogenously, driven by the body's own immune response.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/endogenously>