

ENODATION

Meaning: Enodation refers to the process of erosion and alteration of landforms, particularly in relation to the shaping of valleys and riverbanks.

1. The enodation process in the geological study helped clarify the formation of the valley.
2. Scientists observed the enodation of the riverbanks after heavy rainfall altered the landscape.
3. In botany, enodation can refer to the gradual development of plant structures through cellular changes.
4. The enodation phenomenon was crucial in understanding how certain minerals dissolve in water over time.
5. Researchers are focusing on the enodation of the ecosystem to develop better conservation strategies.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/enodation>