

EPILOGISTIC

Meaning: Epilogistic refers to a style or tone that relates to or resembles an epilogue, often providing closure or summarizing key themes and reflections.

1. The epilogistic tone of the author's final chapter left readers with a sense of closure and reflection.
2. In her epilogistic remarks, she summarized the key themes of the novel while hinting at possible future journeys for the characters.
3. His epilogistic commentary provided valuable insights into the broader implications of the story's events.
4. The film's epilogistic sequence cleverly wrapped up the narrative threads, leaving the audience with lingering questions.
5. As the speaker concluded with an epilogistic flourish, the audience felt a profound connection to the journey they had experienced together.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/epilogistic>