

EPIPHORA

Meaning: Epiphora is a rhetorical device characterized by the repetition of a word or phrase at the end of successive clauses or sentences to emphasize a point.

1. Epiphora is a rhetorical device that emphasizes a point by repeating words at the end of successive phrases.
2. In his speech, the use of epiphora created a rhythmic pattern that captivated the audience's attention.
3. The poet's clever use of epiphora highlighted the emotional weight of her verses.
4. During the debate, the candidate employed epiphora to reinforce her key messages effectively.
5. Literary scholars often analyze epiphora to understand its impact on a text's overall meaning and tone.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/epiphora>