

EQUIPOLLENT

Meaning: Equipollent: having equal weight, force, or significance; comparable in effectiveness or validity.

1. The two theories presented were equipollent in their explanations of the phenomenon.
2. In the debate, each argument was deemed equipollent, leading to no clear resolution.
3. The evidence provided by both sides was equipollent, making it difficult to determine a definitive conclusion.
4. Despite their differing approaches, the outcomes of the experiments were equipollent in their implications.
5. The judge ruled that the testimonies were equipollent, leaving the jury with a challenging decision to make.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/equipollent>