

ERYTHROCHROIC

Meaning: Erythrochroic refers to having a red color or pigment.

1. The scientist noted the erythrochroic pigment in the recent specimen under the microscope.
2. In the world of botany, erythrochroic plants often display vibrant red hues that attract pollinators.
3. The artist chose an erythrochroic palette for her painting, emphasizing the warm tones throughout the composition.
4. During the experiment, the researchers observed erythrochroic characteristics that indicated a change in temperature response.
5. The rare erythrochroic algae found in the lake sparked interest among biologists studying aquatic ecosystems.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/erythrochroic>