

FIBRIL

Meaning: FIBRIL: A small, thread-like structure or fiber, especially in biological tissues, that contributes to the composition and function of larger fibers or muscle fibers.

1. The muscle fibers are composed of numerous fibrils that contract during movement.
2. Researchers discovered that the fibrils in the tissue had altered properties in disease states.
3. Under a microscope, the fibril structure of the protein was remarkably intricate and well-organized.
4. The scientist explained how the arrangement of fibrils affects the overall strength of the material.
5. In plants, fibrils play a crucial role in providing structural support and rigidity.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/fibril>