

FLUXIONAL

Meaning: Fluxional refers to a state of continuous change or variation, particularly in the behavior or structure of a system, such as in chemistry or linguistics.

1. The fluxional nature of the chemical compound made it difficult to predict its behavior under varying conditions.
2. In linguistics, a fluxional language is one that relies heavily on inflection to convey grammatical relationships.
3. Scientists observed fluxional behavior in the molecular structure, leading to new insights in their research.
4. The artist's work was characterized by fluxional themes, capturing the essence of change and movement.
5. During the experiment, the fluxional state of the substance revealed unexpected interactions with its environment.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/fluxional>