

FUST

Meaning: Fust (noun): a layer of mold or mildew that accumulates on damp or neglected surfaces.

1. The old book was covered in a thick layer of fust, indicating it hadn't been touched in years.
2. As the rain poured down, the neglected garden became overrun with fust and decay.
3. The fust in the air hinted at the dampness that had settled into the abandoned house.
4. She carefully cleaned the fust from the antique furniture, revealing its original beauty.
5. In the damp cellar, a musty fust clung to the walls, a reminder of years of neglect.
6. The old book had a fusty smell that hinted at its age and neglect.
7. After years of being stored in a damp basement, the clothes were covered in a fusty mildew.
8. The fustiness of the air in the attic made it clear that no one had been up there for a long time.
9. His fusty opinions on modern art made it difficult for him to appreciate contemporary pieces.
10. The pub had a charmingly fust atmosphere, filled with antique furniture and dusty memorabilia.
11. The old book had a musty smell, a telltale sign of fust accumulating over the years.
12. After years of neglect, the fust that coated the attic was a reminder of forgotten memories.
13. As I opened the chest, a cloud of fust escaped, revealing the treasures hidden within.
14. The antique shop was filled with items covered in fust, each telling its own story of age.
15. With a gentle wipe, she removed the fust from the portrait, bringing the colors back to life.