

GLOBULIN

Meaning: Globulin is a type of protein in blood plasma that is essential for immune function and is measured to assess health conditions.

1. Globulin is a vital protein found in blood plasma that plays a key role in immune function.
2. Doctors often measure globulin levels to help diagnose various health conditions, including liver disease.
3. The body produces different types of globulins, each serving unique functions in maintaining health.
4. Increased globulin levels can indicate chronic inflammation or infection in the body.
5. Research into globulin's role in disease progression has led to new insights in medical science.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/globulin>