GRAPHOPHONE

Meaning: A graphophone is a mechanical device used for recording and reproducing sound, which improved upon earlier phonographs by enhancing sound quality.

1. The graphophone was an innovative device that transformed the way people listened to recorded sound.

2. In the late 19th century, the graphophone offered a significant improvement over earlier phonographs in sound quality.

3. Many historians credit the graphophone for paving the way for modern audio recording technology.

4. She marveled at the clarity of the music that the graphophone produced, a stark contrast to the scratchy recordings of its predecessors.

5. Collecting antique audio equipment, he was particularly fascinated by the design and mechanics of the graphophone.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/graphophone