

HANKER

Meaning: HANKER (verb): to have a strong desire or longing for something.

1. She began to hanker for the comfort of her childhood home.
2. After years in the city, he started to hanker for the simplicity of rural life.
3. During the long winter months, many people hanker for the warmth of the sun.
4. As the holidays approached, she couldn't help but hanker for her grandmother's famous pie.
5. He would often hanker for adventure, dreaming of far-off places and new experiences.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/hanker>