

HARD-FAVOREDNESS

Meaning: Hard-favoredness refers to the preferential treatment or advantage given to a particular group, often resulting in inequality or dissatisfaction among others.

1. The hard-favoredness of the elite in political decisions often leads to public dissatisfaction.
2. His hard-favoredness in the competition was evident, as he consistently received the best resources.
3. Despite the hard-favoredness shown towards certain candidates, the election remained surprisingly close.
4. The hard-favoredness of the judges raised questions about the fairness of the contest.
5. In the business world, hard-favoredness can create significant barriers for new startups trying to enter the market.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/hard-favoredness>