

HEMATOID

Meaning: Hematoid refers to a substance or mineral that contains or resembles blood, often used to describe reddish-brown minerals or tissue materials that exhibit blood-like characteristics.

1. The hematoid mineral formed under unique geological conditions.
2. During the examination, the doctor noted a hematoid substance in the tissue sample.
3. Researchers are studying the properties of hematoid formations found in various rock layers.
4. The presence of hematoid crystals can indicate specific environmental factors during mineralization.
5. In art conservation, identifying hematoid pigments can help determine the age of a painting.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/hematoid>