

HEMATOSIN

Meaning: Hematosin is a reddish-brown pigment derived from hemoglobin, commonly used in medical research for studying blood-related disorders and observed in stained tissue samples.

1. Hematosin is often used in medical research to study blood-related disorders.
2. The pathologist observed the presence of hematosin in the stained tissue samples.
3. Using hematosin as a dye, the scientists were able to visualize cellular structures more clearly.
4. In histology, hematosin helps differentiate between various types of tissues under a microscope.
5. The discovery of hematosin's properties has advanced our understanding of hematological conditions.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/hematosin>