

HOMOEOMEROUS

Meaning: Homoeomorous refers to a type of body structure in certain organisms that is uniformly composed throughout, characterized by tissues with a consistent composition and structure.

1. The term homoeomorous describes a type of body structure in certain organisms that is uniformly composed throughout.
2. In biology, homoeomorous tissues are those that exhibit a consistent composition and structure.
3. The homoeomorous nature of the organism's cells allows for a more simplified development process.
4. Researchers studied the homoeomorous features of the jellyfish, noting its lack of specialized tissues.
5. Understanding homoeomorous characteristics can help scientists draw comparisons between different species.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/homoeomorous>