

HOMOGENESIS

Meaning: Homogenesis is the process by which different organisms develop similar traits as a result of experiencing comparable evolutionary pressures.

1. Homogenesis refers to the process by which organisms develop similar characteristics due to shared evolutionary pressures.
2. The study of homogenesis challenges traditional views on species divergence and adaptation.
3. In agriculture, homogenesis can lead to the predominance of specific traits in crop varieties over time.
4. Researchers are investigating the role of homogenesis in the evolution of certain marine species.
5. Understanding homogenesis is essential for conservation efforts aimed at preserving biodiversity.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/homogenesis>