

HOMOLOGIZE

Meaning: To homologize means to establish a correspondence or similarity between elements, such as genetic sequences or research findings, to facilitate comparison and understanding.

1. Scientists often seek to homologize the genetic sequences of different species to better understand evolutionary relationships.
2. In her research, she aimed to homologize the findings of previous studies with her own data to strengthen her conclusions.
3. The biologist was able to homologize the anatomical structures of various mammals, highlighting their shared evolutionary traits.
4. To homologize the theories proposed by different physicists, the team conducted a series of experiments that unified their approaches.
5. The software was designed to homologize disparate datasets, making it easier for researchers to analyze similar patterns across fields.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/homologize>