

HYGROPTHALMIC

Meaning: HYGROPTHALMIC: relating to adaptations or physiological changes in organisms, particularly amphibians, that occur in response to high humidity or aquatic environments.

1. The scientist presented a groundbreaking study on hygrophthalmic adaptations in certain amphibian species.
2. Hygrophthalmic conditions often lead to unique physiological changes in aquatic organisms.
3. Researchers are investigating the hygrophthalmic characteristics of plants in wetland ecosystems.
4. The term hygrophthalmic is rarely used outside specialized biological and environmental discussions.
5. Understanding hygrophthalmic responses can shed light on species survival in fluctuating habitats.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/hygrophthalmic>